Noona® Helps Connect you with your Care Team during your Radiation Therapy Cancer Treatment

Welcome to Noona

- Noona is an online system that helps you connect with your cancer care team. You can use it to see your upcoming appointments, report your symptoms and tell us information about your wellbeing.
- You can use it on your cell phone, tablet, or computer.
- Noona is secure. Your information is protected within this program.

How will I be using Noona?

- During your cancer treatment, you will get information about upcoming appointments with your cancer care team. You will also get questionnaires to fill out. It is called "Patients Come First".
- These questionnaires will ask about your symptoms related to your treatment.
- Please complete these questionnaires when you get the text or email notification.
- Your answers help your team prepare for your next appointment.
- You can enter your symptoms in the Diary function, but they are NOT monitored by your cancer care team.
- If you have urgent symptoms that you cannot manage at home, please call 911 or report to the nearest Emergency Department.
