

Fishermen's Memorial Hospital

Fishermen's Memorial Hospital is located in Lunenburg, on the south shore of Nova Scotia. While the Municipality of the District of Lunenburg has a population of 25,545 people, this number swells during the tourist season with a large number of visitors and seasonal residents in the Town of Lunenburg and nearby communities such as Mahone Bay and Chester.

Fishermen's Memorial Hospital has 46 medical inpatient beds. Approximately 309 employees provide the following programs and services:

- Ambulatory Care – visiting specialists
- Asthma Centre
- Alternate Level of Care Unit
- Emergency Department
- Laboratory, blood collection
- Diabetes Education Centre
- Diagnostic Imaging – bone densitometry
- Environmental Services
- Falls Prevention
- Respiratory Therapy
- Mental Health & Addiction Services – Opioid use disorders
- Midwifery
- Nutrition and Food services
- Rehabilitation Services, including physiotherapy, occupational therapy and recreation therapy.
- Social Work
- Palliative Care
- Pharmacy
- Restorative Care

Fishermen's Memorial Hospital is also home to Pelham Medical Services collaborative practice team.

Veteran's Unit

The Veteran's Unit at Fishermen's Memorial Hospital is a 16-bed unit offering a team approach to care that includes physiotherapy, occupational therapy, recreation, music, and other supports focused on enriching the quality of life for the veterans. They also enjoy activities such as picnics, fishing, scenic drives, musical performances, hockey games, sailing and swimming.